PROFILE

I am 19 years old and have completed high school in the field of natural sciences. I am currently pursuing a bachelor's degree at Cactus Education in Web Development, where I am learning to develop websites in both front-end and back-end. I am passionate about technology and always motivated to learn new things and improve my professional skills.

EXPERIENCE

In addition to programming, I have knowledge in design and digital content creation. I can use Canva and Figma for designing websites and logos, as well as CapCut for video editing. Although I do not yet have work experience in these fields, I am always open to new opportunities that help me grow professionally and contribute with my creativity and dedication.

- Ability to bring new ideas to projects
- Willingness to learn and continuously improve
- Readiness to gain experience and contribute to projects

COURSES

Besides the college I am currently attending, I have also completed a course in front-end development at Speex Education, where I learned in detail about HTML, CSS, SCSS, SASS, React, and JavaScript.

I have completed an English language course at The Cambridge Course, and a German language course (level A1) at Speex Education.
